

WILL HIDDEN 27 YEARS FOUND

In It Thomas Moore, of Harrison, N. J., Left Entire Estate of $100,000 to His Adopted Daughter, Then an Infant.

A will hidden for twenty-seven years in an old iron-bound chest was filed for probate to-day in Jersey City. It bears the signature of Thomas Moore, of Harrison, N. J., who died a year ago leaving a fortune of $100,000 to Mrs. Thomas J. McGlennon, of Harrison.

Thomas Moore twenty-eight years ago adopted a girl baby two years old. He had not been on good terms with his two brothers and his sister, and his avowed purpose in adopting the child was to leave her his money. He grew to love the little one and publicly announced that he would dispose of his fortune to insure his wife a comfortable living should she survive him and give to the adopted daughter the entire estate.

The adopted daughter grew up and was educated as befitting a young woman with expectations. Mr. Moore's wife died and he married again. His adopted daughter also married. Mr. Moore gave her away at the altar, and told the wedding guests that he had arranged for the transfer of his fortune to her after his death.

He died about a year ago and no will was found. The widow took possession of the fortune, acting in alliance with the brothers and sisters of her husband. Mrs. McGlennon, through Senator Robert Hudson, of Hudson County, brought suit in the Chancery Court to have a will established along the lines of the desires that Thomas Moore had so often publicly expressed. The widow and other relatives fought this action and delayed it. Then the will of twenty-seven years ago was discovered.

FAMILY UNITED AFTER 28 YEARS

Mrs. Tunison Greets Brother and Sisters She Had Not Heard from Since 1877—Death Notice Brings Reunion.

AFTER an absence of twenty-eight years, Mrs. John Tunison, of Berwyn, Ill., has returned to her old home at New Brunswick, N. J., to visit her brother and two sisters, whom she had not seen in that time or heard from until a short time ago.

The reunion took place in the residence of the brother, John A. Sanabury, at No. 124 Remsen avenue, New Brunswick. The sisters, Mrs. Rappley and Mrs. Nonnenmacher, both of whom also live in that place, were present.

Mrs. Tunison, who is now sixty, was married thirty-four years ago. Her husband was a farmer near Newark. Twenty-eight years ago he moved to Ilwaco, Ore., and bought a farm, but four years later the crops were a failure and he was forced to go to Chicago in search of work. Some time after that he went into business and made a small fortune with which he retired to Berwyn. He died about a year ago, and one of the death notices was read by Mrs. Tunison's New Brunswick relatives. They wrote to her and she replied. It was the first interchange of letters during the twenty-eight years of her absence.

VICTOR HERBERT'S NEW SUNDAY NIGHT 'POPS.'

First of Spring Series at Majestic Theatre Draws Good-Sized Audience.

A good-sized audience with a keen ear and a similar appetite for Herbert music heard the first of a spring series of Sunday night concerts by Victor Herbert's Orchestra at the Majestic Theatre last night. There were, of course, other compositions, but what the people liked best was Mr. Herbert's genial interpretation of his own delightful music. He wound up the first part of the programme with that stampano affair of his that he keeps for encore, and in the second half paid the penalty of popularity by being obliged to give a bit of "Habs in Toyland," following a few of the pretty numbers from "It Happened in Nardland." Mrs. R. Shottwell-Piper was the soloist.

FIRE 1,000 FEET UNDERGROUND.
WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 13.—A big force of men has been fighting a coal seam fire at the bottom of the shaft of the Nanticoke mine for twenty-four hours. The officials believe it is under control. Eighty-five miles in a shaft at the bottom of the mine have been rescued. The shaft is 1,000 feet deep and the fire is 1,000 feet deep.
